

WNBA Stars Get 'Bossy' in ESPN Launch Spot

05.21.2018

As the NBA wraps up the finals and heads to the championships, the WNBA is just getting underway.

ESPN gave the women-only league its own spot with "Bossy," featuring some of the league's best players, such as the Minnesota Lynx's Maya Moore, the Phoenix Mercury's Diana Taurasi, the Los Angeles Sparks' Candace Parker and the Washington Mystics' Elena Delle Donne.

The spot is scored by DeJ Loaf's "Big Ole Boss," and it's part of ESPN's 'Life Needs Sports' campaign which rolled out earlier this month.

The WNBA tipped off on Sunday, May 20, with the Lynx hosting the Sparks at home.
